Briefing Note Eastern Cluster Utility Works

General Synopsis

Major works are continuing to take place throughout the Square Mile to install ducts for a 33kv electricity supply cable to connect a number of developments in the east of the City from the UK Power Networks (UKPN) sub-station located near to Ludgate Hill in the west of the City

The City of London have been liaising with UKPN and their contractor to co-ordinate works for the purpose of installing electrical cables into the highway, ensuring minimal impact is had on the users of the road network. Where possible, arrangements have and will be made for shared works (other utilities using the same closure) to take place.

Updated Programme

UKPN, require to install cables on the westbound carriageway of Newgate Street. To complete these works and to connect to the already installed 33Kv electricity supply a westbound closure of Newgate Street & a closure of Warwick Lane at its junction with Newgate St is required.

In order that minimal inconvenience is caused to users of the City's road network, discussions have taken place to arrange collaborative works. To date it has been arranged for JSM on behalf of Colt to work within the UKPN closure and carryout necessary repairs. Through these collaborative works, will save an average of 10 working days of disruption to the network.
